The Bremen Town Musicians

retold by
Jason Andrew Gots

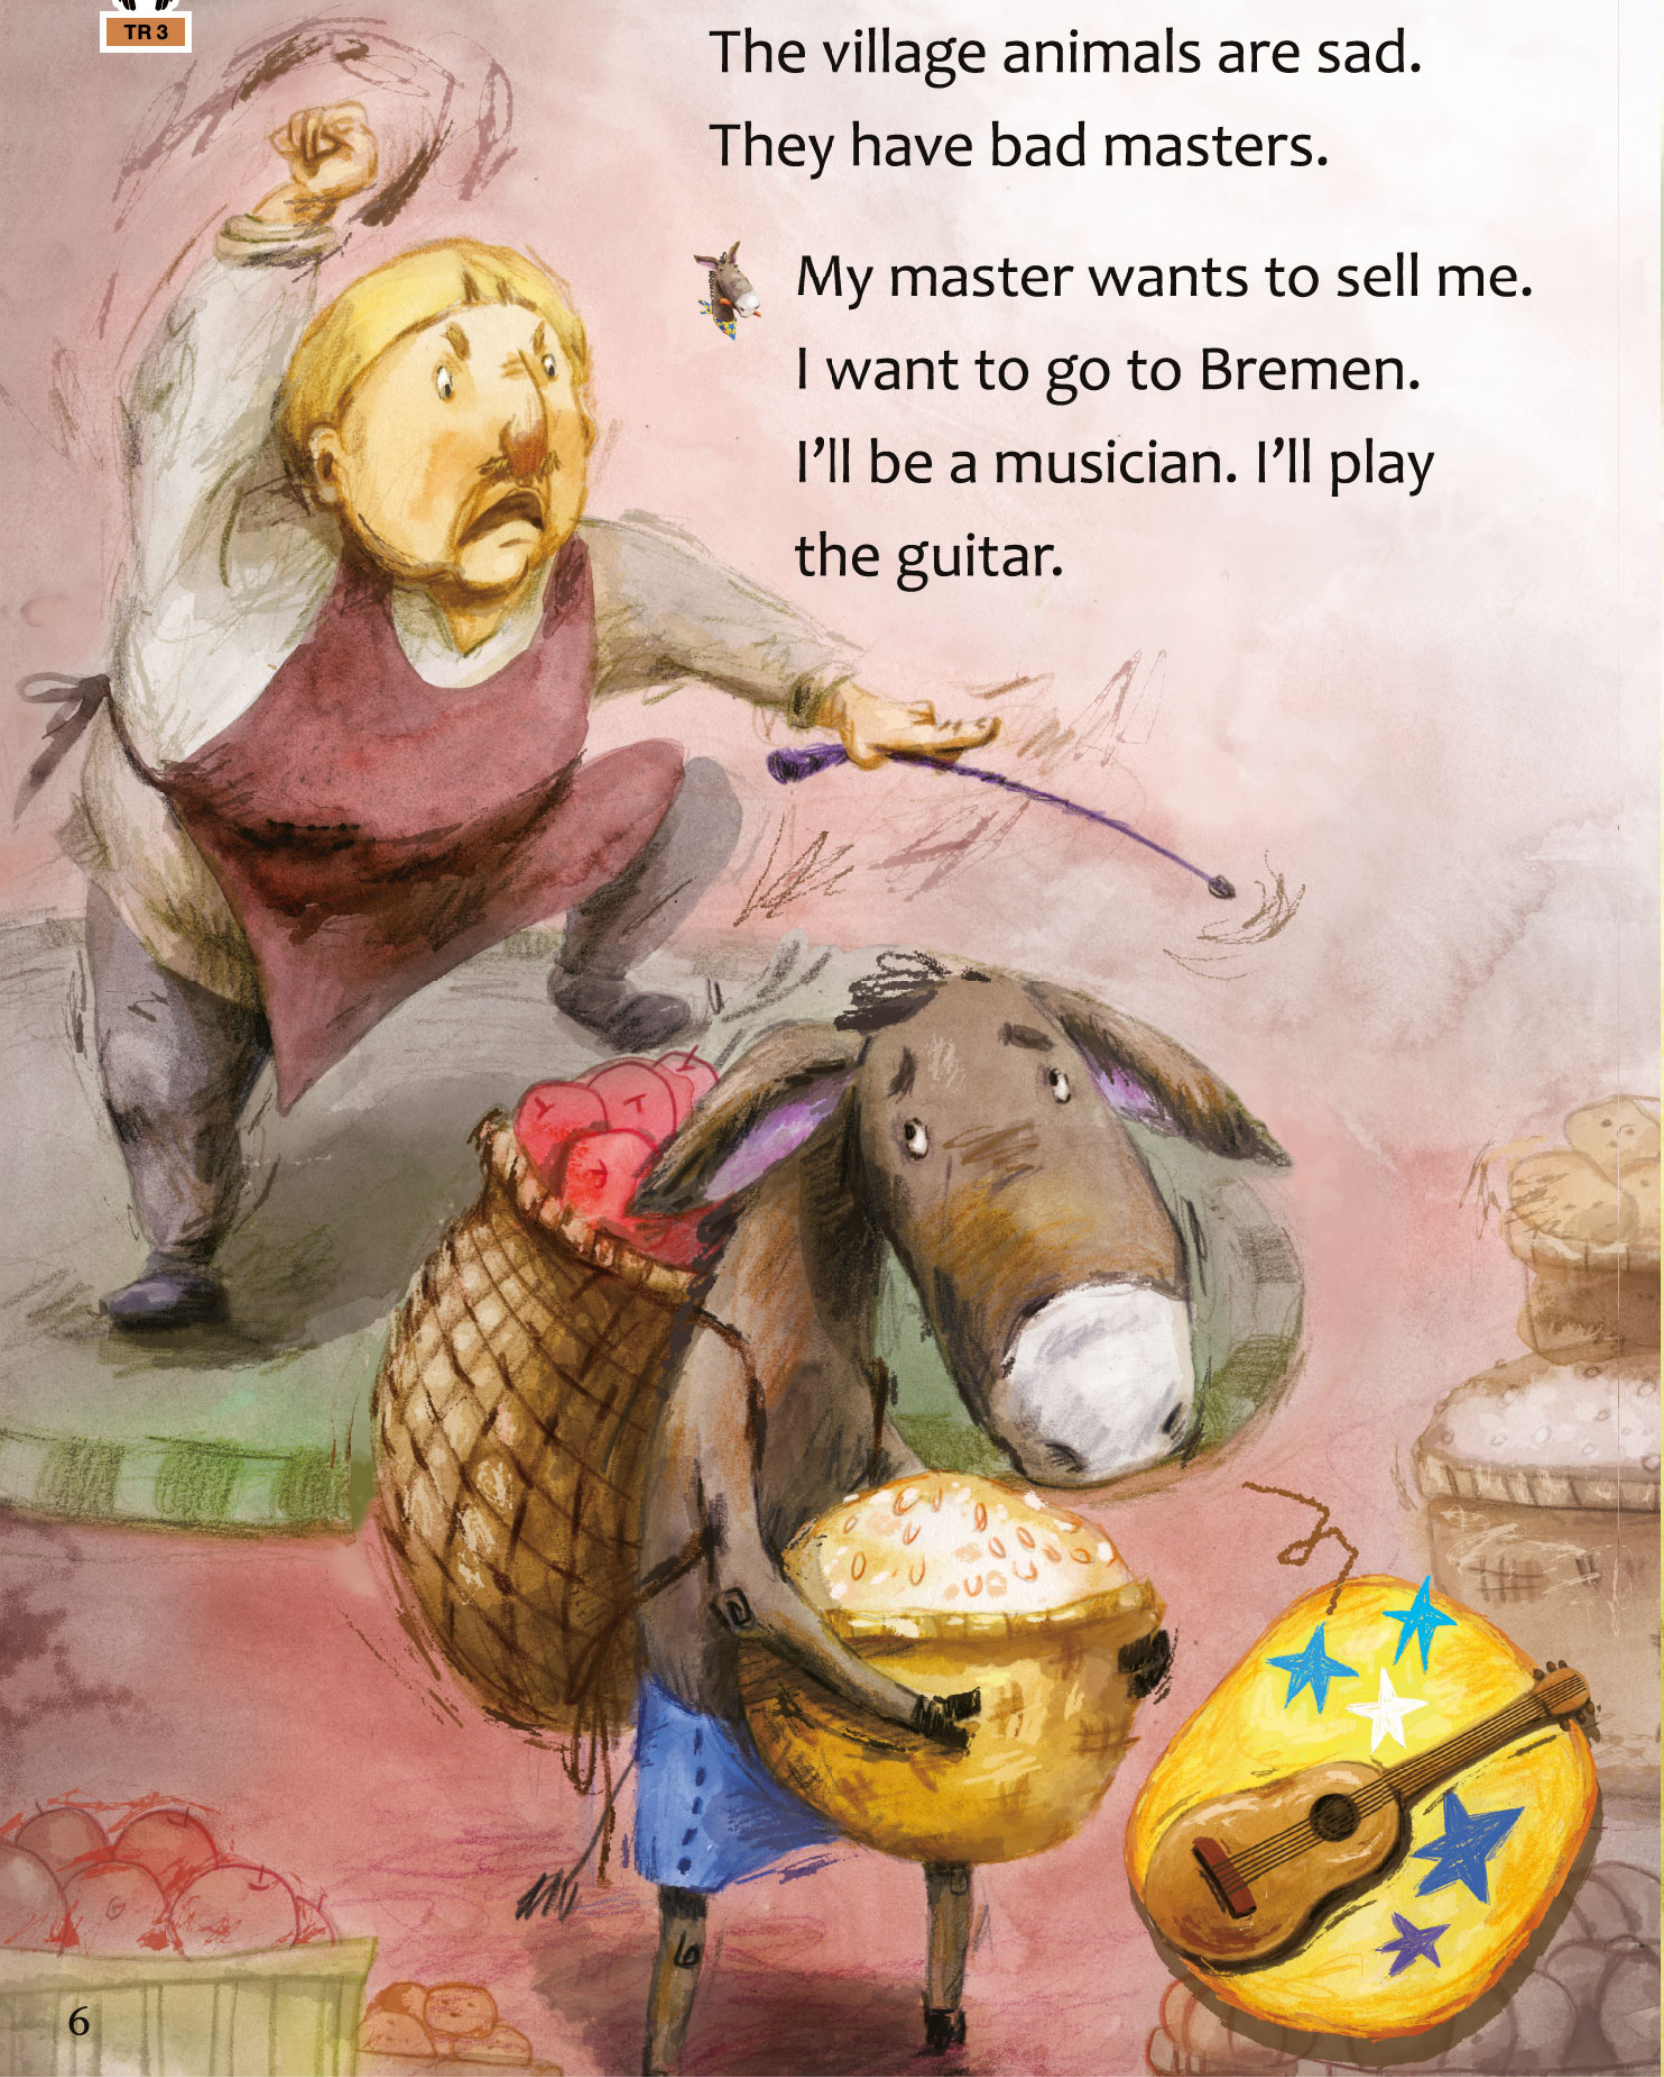

TR 3

The village animals are sad.
They have bad masters.

My master wants to sell me.
I want to go to Bremen.
I'll be a musician. I'll play the guitar.

On the way, Donkey meets an old dog.

My master wants to sell me.

Let's go to Bremen together! I'll be a musician.

Okay! I'll play the maracas. Woof!

Donkey and Dog meet a worried cat.

 My master wants to sell me.

 Let's go to Bremen together!

  We'll be musicians.

 Okay! I'll play the flute. Meow!

Donkey, Dog and Cat meet a sad rooster.

 My master wants to sell me.

 Let's go to Bremen together!

 We'll be musicians.

 Okay! I'll sing. Cock-a-doodle-doo!

It is a dark night. The animals rest in the forest.

Look, there is a house!

Maybe there is a straw bed.

Maybe there is food.

We need a house!

What do you see?

Four robbers!

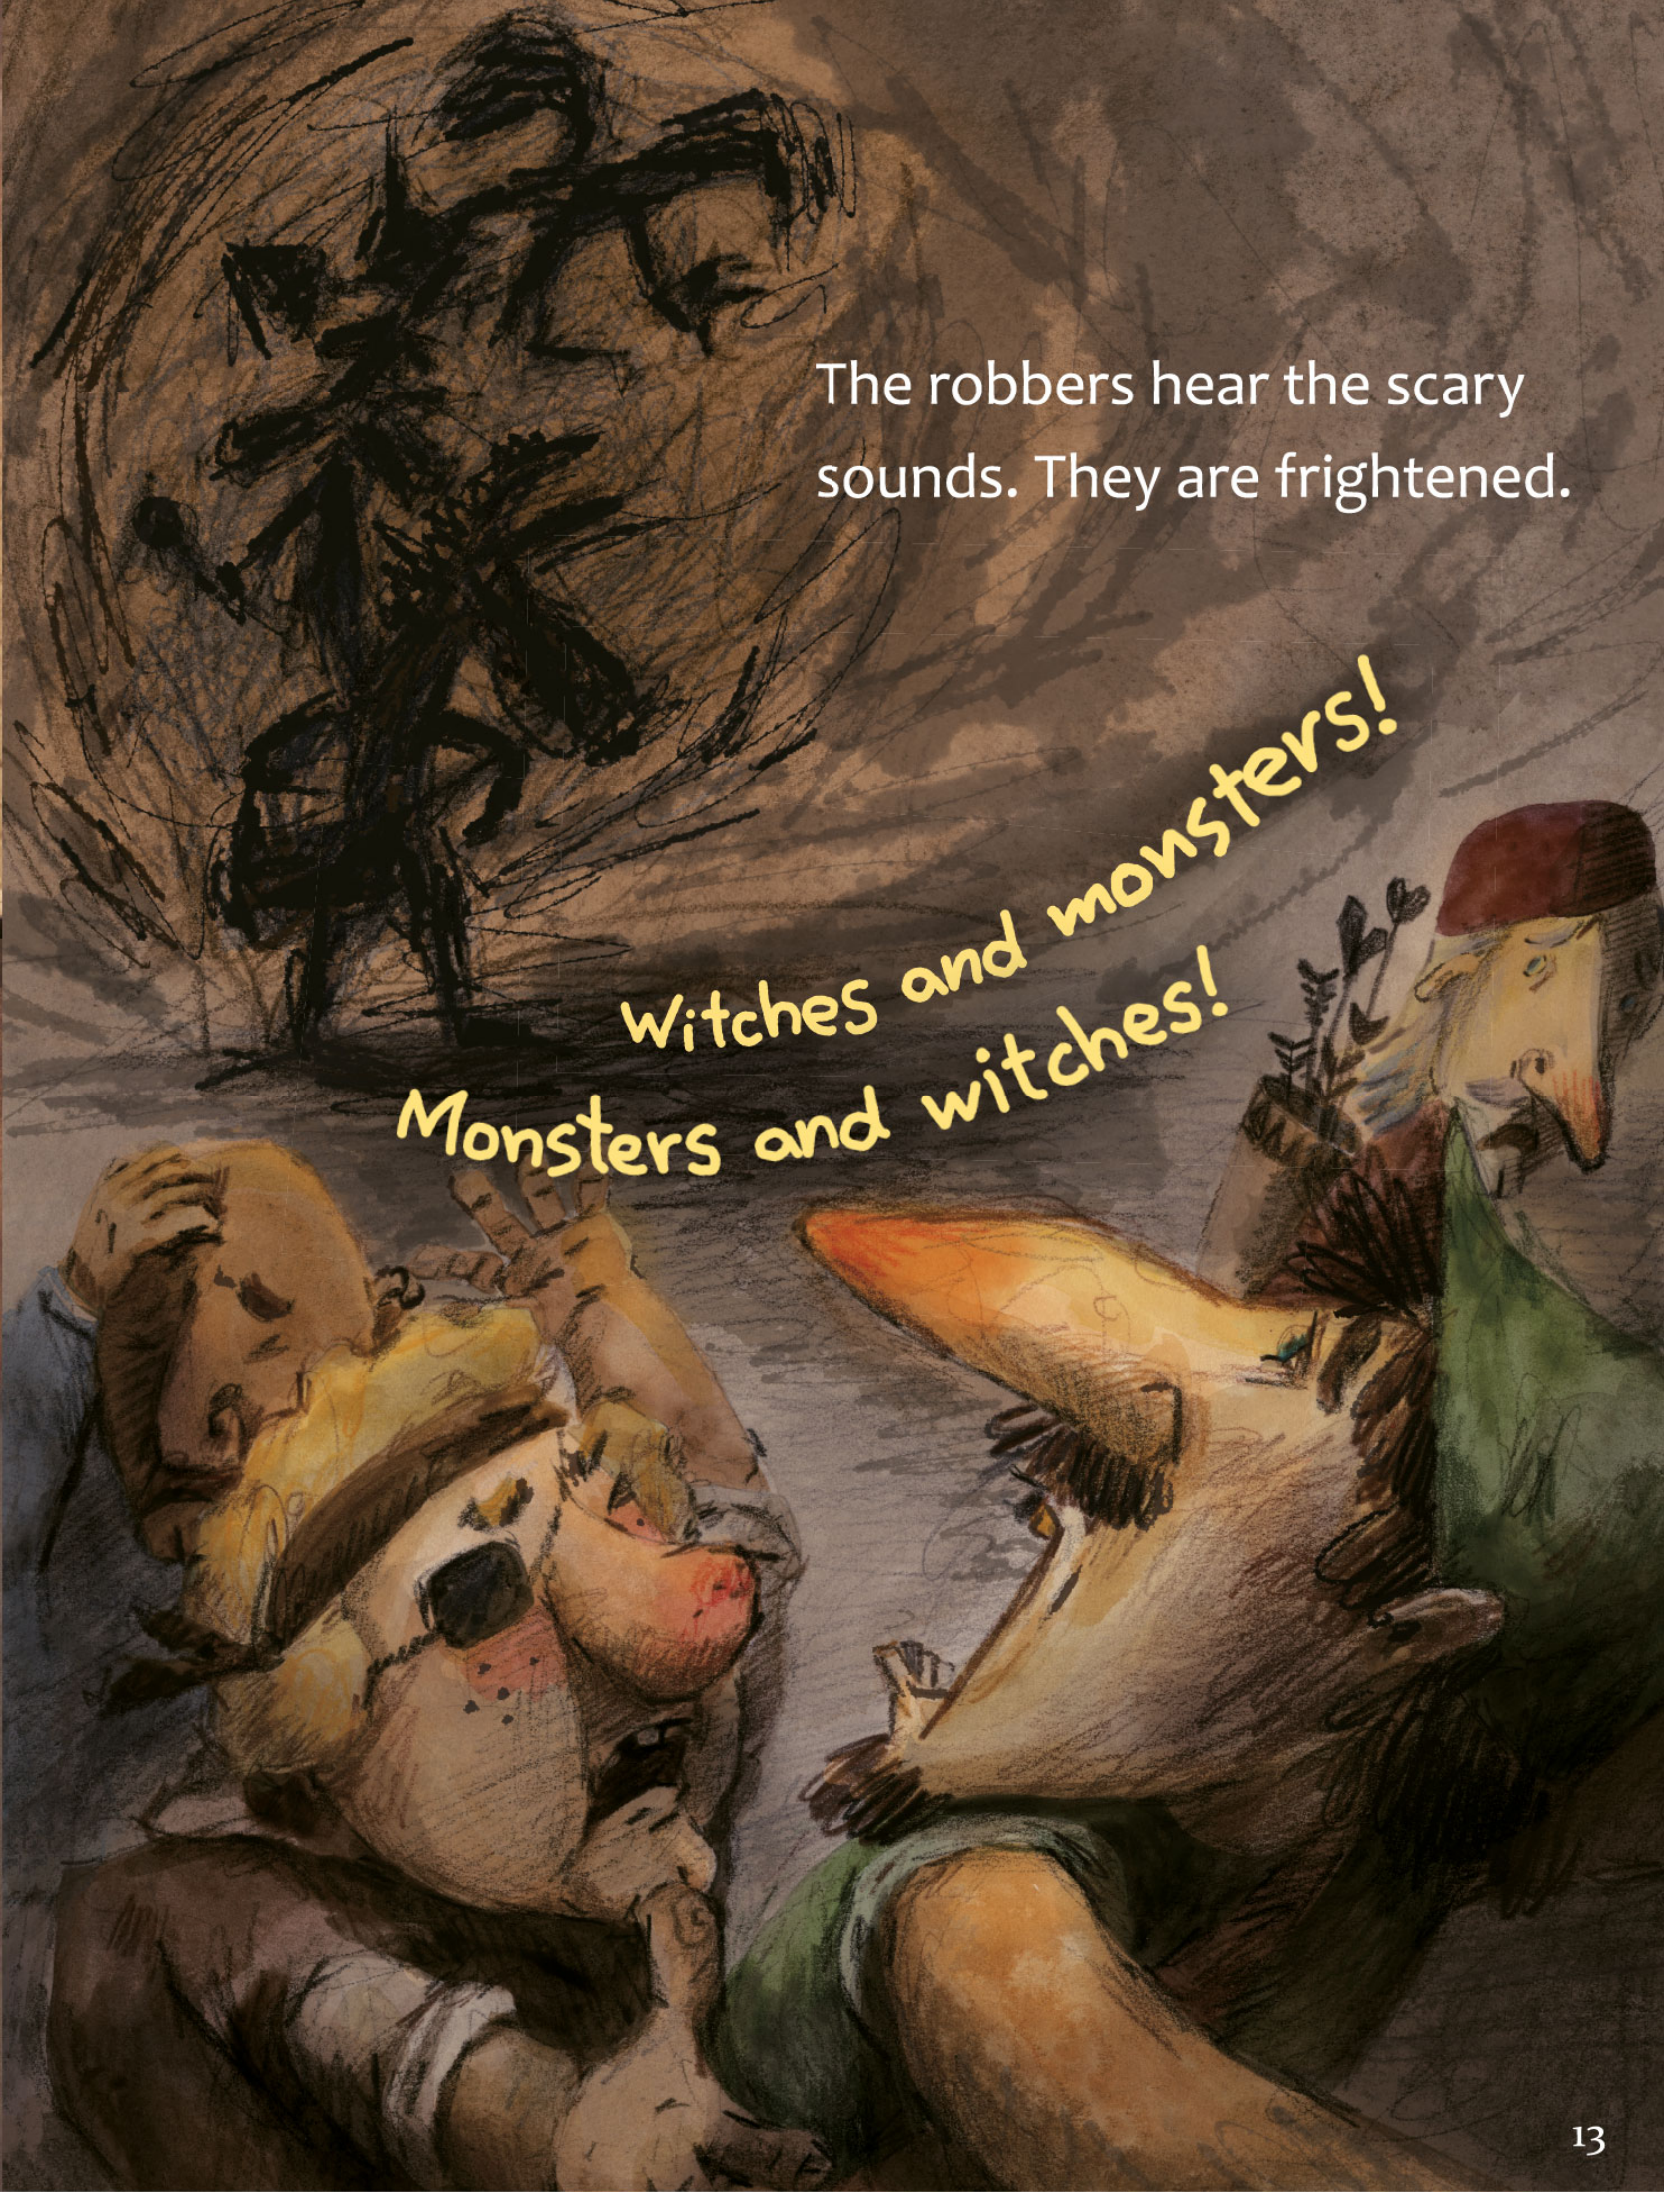

Let's scare them away!

The animals have an idea.
They pick up their musical instruments.

They begin to play.
They make noise, but not music.

The robbers hear the scary sounds. They are frightened.

Witches and monsters!
Monsters and witches!

The robbers run away and never return.

Music is powerful. It scares bad people away!

We are the Bremen Town
Musicians!
